

Legacy Partners Executive Search

Legacy Partners is a full service, fully retained, national executive search practice, formerly known as PricewaterhouseCoopers Executive Search, that originated in the early 1970's. Following the Sarbanes-Oxley legislation of 2002, the executive search practice was purchased from PwC in 2003 by the current principals. We have successfully recruited senior positions for the Municipal, Provincial and the general Public Sector, locally and nationally.

Legacy Partners is proud of its more than ninety per cent retention rates of positions filled, after the first three years. This rate makes us a leader in the industry, and speaks to the quality of the recruitment process, the fit of the candidate with the organization, the ongoing communication with the client, and, the successful candidate long after the recruitment has been finalized.
